

Virginia K. White, Grade 3 Prompts

Art Prompt: Draw the most fun pair of glasses you can imagine. Think about the color, shape, and details that might be on them. Do the glasses have magical powers?

Writing Prompt: Use details to explain why you think these glasses are fun. Ex. bling, polished, glowing, a particular shape, or even act as a camera

Writing Prompt: “Doc finished Margie’s bonnet glasses, but he felt it was not quite enough.” Write about what you think might be added to the bonnet glasses. Use fun description words and interesting action words to tell your story.

Writing Tips: Using fun description makes your writing interesting. Ex. Lumpy, crimson, moldy, flowery, triangular. When you do this, you show the reader rather than tell the reader about a person, thing, or event. You are painting a picture of the glasses with your words.

Bio: Colorado Authors’ League finalist and Readers’ Choice Awards. Little Honker Saves the Day. Little Honker’s Winter Concert. Little Honker and the Swinging Tails. Little Honker’s Backyard Adventures. Little Honker’s Patriotic Paws. Glasses for Margie, Margie Surprises Doc, Would You Like a Scarlet Striped Schrinkler? Would You Like a Whiskered Wogler? Would You Like a Giant Ginger Garbula? Would You Like a Copper Colored Cajankler?

For more information about Virginia K. White, visit her website --www.virginiakwhite.com

Virginia K. White, Grade 3 Prompts

Art Prompt: What makes you the happiest? Draw a picture of it. Is it a particular food, a game, reading, travel, movies, music, your pet, family? Use some fun details in your picture.

Writing Prompt: Look at your picture. Explain why this thing or these things make you happy. Think about how you feel when you are around or with these things. Use fun description words to tell your story.

Writing Prompt: “Have you ever wanted something a lot and needed help to get it?” Think about what you wanted and who you needed to help you. Do you get it? What did you have to do to get the help you needed? Use fun description words and interesting action words to tell your story.

Writing Prompt: “I like it. Mind if I try?” What do you think it is? What will you do with it? Who is with you? Use fun description and interesting verbs to tell your story.

Writing Tips: Specific names like cheddar cheese, UNO, Harry Potter, my sister Zola are some examples. Fun description words and action words are plump, glorious, gawking, gruesome, gnawed, gasped.

Bio: Colorado Authors’ League finalist, Readers’ Choice Awards. Little Honker Saves the Day, Little Honker’s Winter Concert, Little Honker and the Swinging Tails, Little Honker’s Backyard Adventures, Little Honker’s Patriotic Paws, Glasses for Margie, Margie Surprises Doc, Would You Like a Scarlet Striped Schrinkler? Would You Like a Whiskered Wogler? Would You Like a Giant Ginger Garbula? Would You Like a Copper Colored Cajankler?

www.virginiakwhite.com